Valley Youth Theatre

The Musical Adventures of Flat Stanley Jr.

Photos by Barry Smith

THE SHOW:

Book by Timothy Allen McDonald, Lyrics by Timothy Allen McDonald and Jonathan K. Waller, Music by David Weinstein, Jonathan K Waller, Timothy Allen McDonald and Stephen Gabriel. Based on the book "Flat Stanley" by Jeff Brown.

Stanley Lambchop dreams of being in exciting adventures like Luke Skywalker and Harry Potter, doing things that no one has ever done before. And when he wishes on a falling star, a falling billboard helps out by flattening Stanley like a "flatcake." When postal worker Mrs. Cartero suggests he see the world via postage stamp, Stanley's wishes of one-of-a-kind adventures begin to come true leading to trips to Hollywood, Paris, and Hawaii in this entertaining musical designed for audiences of all ages, shapes, and sizes.

THE PRODUCTION:

Director Bobb Cooper of Valley Youth Theatre pulled together a talented group of seventh to tenth graders to bring the Flat Stanley book to life. Eighth grader Sam Primack is our title character, turned flat through a combination of Karol Cooper's two-dimensional costuming and Sam's body language. He does a terrific job as the excited and imaginative daydreamer in I Wish I Were, rolling with the punches in The Funny Sunny Side, having a blast surfin' Hawaii, and apprehending sneak art thieves while undercover as a painting of a reluctant Bo Peep.

Back home, Ben Formisano and Tatum Dial are fun and loving parents who go from concerned, to accidentally dropping an avalanche of flat-related puns, to helping him find that funny, sunny side of flatness, to their mixed feelings of wanting him to have adventures and wanting him there at home. Chris Cason is a hit as his little brother Arthur who excitedly participates in I Wish I Were with his brother and gives a hilarious monologue about the cool kids, a tree, and Stanley's misadventure as a kite.

Then there are some of the colorful characters Stanley meets along the way. Sophia Drapeau is a looming, magical, wish-granting billboard beamed in from above via video projection. Carly McClain is a genial, ever-helpful postal worker who helps groove us along as we're Travelin' Through the Mail. Noa Gauthier is Stanley's likeable and supportive long-distance friend Samantha. We go to France with help from French accents and the quirky personalities of museum curator Darby Johnson, Sneak Thief Benny Cowans, Lily Gonzales as Mona Lisa, and Johnny Robaina as Napoleon. Charismatic Hollywood Agent Vincent Pugliese and his equally charismatic assistants (Jasmine Bassham, Alex Kirby, Phoebe Koyabe, and Hallie Reggio) sell Stanley on Hollywood with a snappy rendition of Talent. And the exotic adventures come to rest on the waves of Hawaii with Kylie Cochran as lively entertainment reporter Sandy Wavecrest, Phoebe Koyabe as a happy surfer, a quartet of dynamic go-go dancers (Jasmine Bassham, Noa Gauthier, Alex Kirby, and Hallie Reggio) choreographed by Cori Brown and, of course, Sam Primack as a surfboard.

Valley Youth Theatre

Peter Pan

Photos by Barry Smith

THE SHOW:

Music by Mark "Moose" Charlap, with additional music by Jule Styne, and lyrics by Carolyn Leigh, with additional lyrics by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, with a story based on J. M. Barrie's 1904 play Peter Pan and his novel "Peter and Wendy."

Somewhere there's a land full of pirates and Indians and fairies and Lost Boys who never grow old. The land is Neverland, an island so small there is hardly any room between one adventure and another. The leader of the Lost Boys is, of course, Peter Pan – the magical boy who flies the Darling children from their home in London to his latest adventures. But in this musical adaptation of J.M. Barrie's immortal fairy tale, you can only finish the adventure if you're still young enough to believe in fairies.

THE PRODUCTION:

Valley Youth Theatre brought this back to the Herberger in downtown Phoenix, with Director Bobb Cooper and his team providing a visually magical return to Neverland. The sets, rented from FCLO Music Theatre, give us some grand scenery and backdrops. Mike Eddy offers his exquisite lighting touches to set the proper moods. ZFX adds to the wonder as Peter Pan and the Darling children learn to fly. And Karol Cooper's costumes, hair, and makeup complete the picture with the primly dressed English children, playful Lost Boys, and a colorful band of pirates.

Bringing those characters to life are some strong talents from throughout the valley. Hannah Blaile is our Peter Pan, delivering good vocals whether on the ground or in the air, and leading her Lost Boys with gusto in their I Won't Grow Up lesson. Caroline Wells is an excited Wendy Darling, infatuated with Peter and relishing the idea of adventure. With her younger brothers Hayden Skaggs and Bryson Holl, they give us a memorable flight toward Neverland.

But danger lurks there, namely in the form of Captain Hook and his relatively loyal band of pirates. Connor Baker is an eccentric and amusing Hook, given to bouts of fear when it comes to ticking clocks (fainting on one occasion, wiping away some tears while trying to look brave after another scare). Hook and Smee (a lovable Sam Primack) make for an impressive comic duo. And their band of pirates might just make you root for them as they Tango and Tarantella and Waltz it up.

Helping make sure they don't win is a group of athletic Indians led by Payton Bioletto as Tiger Lily, leading a huge Ugh-A-Wug dance number that is one of the many nicely choreographed numbers by Katie Casey. A few of the other highlights include Jessica Sinodis as the concerned Mrs. Darling, Alex Partida as the equally concerned dog Nana, and Ally Lansdowne as their maid Liza who follows the group to enjoy her own adventures in Neverland. And last but not least is that gang of Lost Boys who kick off the Darling trip with their accidental shooting of the Wendy Bird (when Tootles'/ Vincent Jacovo's arrow initially doesn't go far enough, he grabs it off the ground and launches it skyward with an impressive throw), go on to build their new "mother" a house, and capture the spirit of the story so well with a heartfelt I Won't Grow Up.

West Side Story Photos by Barry Smith

THE SHOW:

Libretto by Arthur Laurents, music by Leonard Bernstein, lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, conception and choreography by Jerome Robbins, based on William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." Broadway debut in 1957.

West Side Story is one of the greatest classics of American musical theatre created by Jerome Robbins, Arthur Laurents, Leonard Bernstein, and a young Stephen Sondheim featuring powerful storytelling and a remarkable score that includes Somewhere, Maria, Tonight, and America. This modern, musical adaptation of Romeo and Juliet takes place on the Upper West Side of Manhattan as rival gangs of Caucasians (The Jets) and Puerto Ricans (The Sharks) battle for turf, while the love between Tony and Maria will either bring the groups together or rip them even further apart.

THE PRODUCTION:

Valley Youth Theatre and Director Bobb Cooper's team staged a huge production of West Side Story at downtown's Herberger Theater Center, the show featuring a mixture of big, eye-popping visuals musical numbers and moments of poignant intimacy. The visuals include magnificent choreography by Katie Casey and Lucas Coatney, good period hair and costumes by Karol Cooper, and scenery provided by FCLO Music Theatre highlighted by the detailed work on Doc's store, a chain-link fence that drops down between us and the rumble, and the three-tiered fire escape on either side of the stage for the Romeo and Juliet balcony scene used for Tony and Maria's Tonight duet, and for the Tonight quintet where each side fills up the fire escapes just before their hatreds clash on the stage in between.

The performers are led by Mike Sprenger as Tony and Sedona Urias-Ramonett as Maria. Mike's sterling vocals give a spellbinding ode to Maria, with Sedona joining him in their charming balcony scene with a nicely sung Tonight. Triple-threat Megan Farinella stars as Anita, Maria's friend and the girlfriend of Maria's brother Bernardo, shining throughout with natural humor and sass for the comedic scenes including her lead in the big America number, and delivering powerful, riveting moments in her A Boy Like That duet with Maria and when she is attacked in Doc's store. As Riff, Michael Schulz is at ease as the leader of the Jets who knows when to be a friend and when to be a leader with his gang. Jonathan Ramirez is Bernardo, doing well as the leader of the Sharks whose anger is palpable as he deals with the racism of the Jets and police who have hounded him since his arrival. Riff and Bernardo and their fight choreography deliver a tension-filled rumble under the highway.

The rest of the large cast is packed with talent that is evident in all the large musical numbers. Sedona Urias-Ramonett is joined by her friends who briefly break the tension with a fun and amusing I Feel Pretty. The Somewhere Ballet is beautifully sung and danced by the cast, with Ally Lansdowne moonlighting from her role as the tomboy Anybodies to provide a lovely Somewhere solo. Connor Baker and the Jets also deliver some welcome humor with their impersonation of Officer Krupke and the adults who pretend they know all there is to know about juvenile delinquency, and all the Jets and Sharks are pretty funny pretending to be chummy with each other at Doc's when their war council is interrupted by the law. The Jets boys and girls show off their jazzy dance moves in Cool, and the Sharks girls are dynamite in America. While the entire stage is awash with talent and passion when they are all out there together for the dance at the gym, and later for their pre-rumble Tonight Quintet, not yet fully realizing how different the dance at the gym and the dance under the highway will be.
